How about making a gingerbread man for Christmas? But this time we will do it with rope. This may surprise you, but I wanted to surprise a little, especially for those who are new to my blog and friends who are not familiar with the art of amigurumi. The doll amigurumi we will share today is a free crochet pattern. Although it may seem very simple, it can be a bit time consuming because it consists of multiple parts. I recommend that you carefully make the red and white stripes on the arms and legs of the amigurumi toy.

I think the amigurumi gingerbread man toy you see in the picture will be a very nice gift for Christmas. I hope you will like it. Don't forget to follow my blog for more.
